2004-2005 Kentucky Schools Directory

Last updated on Monday, December 20, 2004

The 2004-2005 Kentucky Schools Directory provides staffing and contact information for all 176 Kentucky School Districts. An abbreviated version of the directory is available here as Web pages.

The entire directory is also available in published form. To purchase a hard copy of the directory, visit the KDE Bookstore or contact JoAnna Crim at (502) 564-3421. You can also write Ms. Crim at Kentucky Department of Education, 1907 Capital Plaza Tower, 500 Mero Street, Frankfort, KY 40601, or send her e-mail at jcrim@kde.state.ky.us.

To browse the Directory, click on the school district of your choice to find the central office staff and schools in that district. NOTE: To send e-mail to a district staff member, the address is typically defined by the intended recipient's first initial followed by their last name, up to a total of eight characters. For example: Username for an employee named Daniel Boone who works in the Lee County schools would be dboone@lee.k12.ky.us. The username for an employee named George Washington in the Franklin County schools would be gwashing@franklin.k12.ky.us.

KDE Bookstore

Last updated on Wednesday, December 22, 2004

The Kentucky Department of Education produces and sells a number of tools and resources for use by educators, parents and others who are interested in the state's education system. These include a variety of publications, compact disks (CD-ROMS) and videotapes. Their focus includes curriculum, instructional techniques, best practices, school and district governance and other topics.

As a standard practice, each school and district receives at least one free copy of every new publication or CD-ROM when it is issued. Additional copies are available to schools and districts, typically at a reduced price. The cost of developing and producing copies of these tools is recovered by their sale to educators, both within and outside of Kentucky, and to the general public. The funds that are generated through the sale of these documents are used to pay for their production as well as to fund the production of other resources.

About This Site

Last updated on Monday, June 14, 2004

The Kentucky Department of Education unveiled this new design for its Web site on Jan. 17, 2003. The new site is best viewed using Microsoft Internet Explorer version 5 or above with a screen resolution of 1024 x 768 (See Changing Your Screen Resolution for help). MacIntosh users should visit Microsoft's Mac Download site for information about upgrading their browsers.

The new site is organized quite differently than the old, and our navigational structure is therefore far different than it used to be. That's because we've moved from a department-oriented structure - one that was driven largely by our organizational chart - to an initiative-oriented structure, one that is driven by functions and programs. We believe this will make it easier for those who are unfamiliar with our internal structure to find what they need on our site.

One result of these changes is that you will need to revise any hyperlinks and bookmarks that pointed to our old Web site. You might even find some links that don't work. If you do, please let us know.

Much of what was on our old Web site is no longer here, because much of the previous site's content was outdated. And a lot of it was simply not critical to our goal of leading every school in the commonwealth to proficiency – a goal of 100 on a 140-point academic scale – by the year 2014.

Why did we make this change? For a number of reasons. First and foremost, we wanted to make it easier for you to find the information you need. Another important concern was the inaccessibility of our previous site to people with disabilities. This new site is fully accessible to people with visual impairments, as required by the federal Americans with Disabilities Act. We have also implemented an entirely new content management system that is going to help us keep everything on the site up to date. This will ensure that you have the most current information available any time you visit this site.

The new site features several tools we believe accomplish this goal. Among them are:

- a powerful search engine that is available at the top of every page and offers a keyword feature for certain pages (see our Search Tips page for a list of those keywords);
- an accurate and detailed site map;
- a new navigation menu that expands to show what lies beneath each main category; and
- a new "What's Hot This Week" section that leads you to the five most-visited pages of the previous week.

While the redesign affects every part of the site, you'll still find key links on the home page, including

"Jobs," the Calendars, our popular "What's New" page, and a link directly to the Education Professional Standards Board for information about educator certification. We've also added home page links to two key resources, "Testing and Reporting," which leads to information about our statewide testing and accountability program, and "School Improvement," which leads to a host of resources for just that - improving schools.

To make it easier for you to get to the site, we have also added several domain names in addition to those to which you may already be accustomed (www.kde.state.ky.us and www.kentuckyschools.org). The new names are www.kyschools.org, www.kyschools.net, and www.kentuckyschools.net. You can use the name you prefer and most easily remember.

We've also developed a page, "Help! How to Get the Most from This Site" to help you understand the new navigation structure and help you find what you seek.

We hope you agree that the new site is more user-friendly than the old site. Again, you will need to revise any hyperlinks and bookmarks that led to the old site.

If you have questions, comments or suggestions about our new site, please contact Armando Arrastia, our director of Publications and Web Services, at 502-564-3421, or by e-mail using the link below.

Privacy

Last updated on Wednesday, February 25, 2004

Your privacy and security are our highest priority. The Kentucky Department of Education collects only the personal information necessary to provide enhanced services to our citizens and customers. Please note that all non-exempt information collected by KDE may be subject to public disclosure under KRS 61.870, the Kentucky Open Records Act. However, public records containing information of a personal nature are protected from disclosure by the personal privacy exemption of state law. Personal data in our possession is maintained and used in ways that respect individual privacy.

Depending on the situation, we may collect the following information about visitors to our Web site:

- the domain name, but not the e-mail address;
- the e-mail addresses of those who communicate with us via e-mail;
- aggregate information about which pages consumers access or visit; or
- information volunteered by the consumer, such as survey information.

This information is used only to improve the scope and content of our services on the Internet.

KDE Information Sharing

KDE will not release personal information to third parties except where it is already provided by law for purposes of notification. We will not provide, rent or sell personal information to third parties for marketing programs or any other purpose. State law restricts the use of personally identifiable information for commercial purposes. Depending on the specific nature of the service, information may be shared with other state agencies as stated in KRS 61.878 \(5\). This statute allows for the exchange of public records or sharing of information between public agencies when the exchange is serving a legitimate governmental need or is necessary in the performance of a legitimate government function.

KDE and Internet Cookies

Cookies are short and simple text files stored on your computer by Internet web sites to help identify users and enhance customer service. We may use cookies to customize and personalize your service transactions with state agencies. For example, our On-line Bookstore may use cookies to keep track of customers and the contents of their shopping cart. In the event the Internet connection is broken or you wish to suspend shopping and resume at a later time, the cookie on your computer will maintain your computer's identity shopping cart information. Cookies do not compromise your privacy or security. Using web browser settings, you can refuse the cookies or delete the cookie file from your computer by using any of the widely available methods.

KDE Security Notice

KDE uses the Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) protocol to safeguard your sensitive personal information, including your credit card number, during online transactions. Using this widely accepted form of encryption, your transaction is secured from your personal computer to the KDE computer processing your request. The KDE processing computers are located behind a secure firewall. For your protection, never put your credit card number or other sensitive information in unencrypted e-mail. For added security, your credit card information is not stored on a state government database and only authorized employees have access to your credit card number for card processing purposes.

SSL is highly regarded to be a very safe encryption method, but we fully understand if you are not comfortable entering your credit card information online. In that event, please call our Office of Communications at 502-564-3421 and speak directly to one of our staff members.

If you have trouble purchasing securely at our web site, then you may be behind a firewall or using a proxy server that doesn't allow for secure transactions. If that is the case, then you may phone or fax your order.

Accommodations for People with Disabilities

Last updated on Friday, March 26, 2004

The Kentucky Department of Education is committed to equal opportunities for all people. We have made every effort to make this entire Web site fully accessible to people with disabilities. Even so, we understand that some of our site content may not achieve that goal. For that reason, we offer to make anything that is found on our Web site available in alternative formats upon request. To request an alternative format of any of our Web pages, or to suggest accessibility improvements, please contact the administrator of this site using the contact information below.

To Speech Enable this Website:

If you or someone you know has difficulty reading and would like to have the KDE Website read to you, then visit Browsealoud for a free download of text reading software from TextHELP Systems, Ltd. After downloading this software, as your mouse hovers over any text on the KDE Website, the computer will automatically read it to you. You will also have full control to set the speed and pitch of your chosen voice, and user defined hotkeys can activate and deactivate speech.

System requirements: Windows 95,98,98SE, NT, 2000 and XP - Does not work with MAC as the more recent MAC software (i.e., OS 9 & 10) already offers free textreading capabilities. The download takes about 10 minutes using a 56K modem.

This service is provided at no cost to the Kentucky Department of Education and its users as a result of the department's successful collaboration with TextHELP in improving accessibility to learning for all students. Kentucky residents are eligible for discounts on TextHELP products. Visit the TextHELP Website, then click on the Client Login at the top of the page. Then enter the Kentucky ID "UDL" and the password "ETEXT." Kentucky residents can then click on the TextHELP Order Form to obtain the special Kentucky prices.

Copyrights and Copyright Permissions

Last updated on Sunday, April 11, 2004

The Kentucky Department of Education produces a multitude of documents to help Kentucky's educators better prepare students for adulthood. We therefore encourage Kentucky educators to freely reproduce, for the purposes of professional development or classroom instruction, any document created by the department. As an alternative, many of these documents are available for sale to educators and the public alike from the KDE Bookstore.

Because our publications are produced at taxpayer expense, they are copyrighted. The unauthorized use by anyone, other than a Kentucky educator, of any publication produced by the Kentucky Department of Education is strictly prohibited. While we do encourage the use of our publications and excerpts from them for educational purposes both within and outside of Kentucky (including their use in textbooks, research papers, etc.), we do not permit the use of our publications, any of their contents, or any other copyrighted materials on a for-profit basis.

All requests for copyright permissions must be made in writing using the form available below. For legal reasons, we will not consider requests made by telephone, fax, e-mail or in person. To simplify the authorization process, please send a letter of request on your organization's letterhead, along with a completed copy of the department's Copyright Permission Request Form (see below), to the address at the bottom of this page. Please be as descriptive as possible about the resource(s) you wish to use. Also, please be sure to sign the form.

We will reply, in writing, usually within two weeks of the date we receive your request.
